

Indoors or out, chalk can be used in a variety of ways, the possibilities are endless!

1. There is nothing more fun than pretend play. You can be anyone you want! Superman, Batman, Santa Claus, the list goes on and on! Grab some sidewalk chalk and draw in some props, a background, whatever you can think of!
2. Play Games: Hopscotch of course, but any game you can play with paper and pencil you can also play big on the sidewalk. How about Hangman, Tic-Tac-Toe, or Dots (the game where you take turns drawing lines between dots to make boxes). You could also draw a target and toss stones to score points.
3. Surprise Someone: On a warm summer night, pay a secret visit to a friend or relative. Bring your bucket of chalk along and decorate their driveway. You could draw giant flowers, write them a nice note, or leave an encouraging quote with a picture. If you don't sign your name, your friend will have a fun mystery to solve!
4. Make a Self-Portrait: Trace your child's body and let him or her fill in the details.
5. With the small chalk on black paper have each student make her own creation. When they are done with their pictures, spray the picture with aerosol hair spray to seal the chalk from smudging.
